Queensland's Do Without Week

AND SECOND GREAT PATRIOTIC DAY

August 26th, 1916

YET once again the people of Queensland are putting forth their whole strength to increase the funds of the Queensland Patriotic Fund to releive the necessities of our Returned Wounded Men and the Dependents of Soldiers. And once again the State is solid in its work for this great object.

Since the great Patriotic Carnival on August 26th last year, great things have happened. The Australian Imperial Forces, instead of being on the shell torn slopes of Gallipoli, have been transferred en masse to France to take part in the homeric struggle now being waged on that front. That fact alone means that we are bound to have return to us many men who will need assistance from the Queensland Patriotic Fund. To enable the Fund to meet the demands which will be made upon it, "Do Without Week" and Carnival Day have been organised. Last year £188,000 was raised as the result of one day's effort, £142,000 of which came into the Queensland Patriotic Fund. This year we are working for a similar amount, and althoughthe calls upon us all are now, directly and indirectly, heavy, yet there is no doubt that Queensland will respond again nobly. If the need for raising money was great last year, it is immeasurably greater this year.

The whole State has been pervaded with the spirit of self sacrifice. All classes, creeds, religions, castes and social distinctions have disappeared, and we are united as one people in making this further strenuous effort to attain the noble objective we have put before us. The great War has in one thing at least been a blessing to the British Empire—it has enabled itself, in travail, to find its soul. Australia—Queensland—has found that it is an integral part of the great Empire, and the work of self sacrifice that we are now attempting will redound to the honor of Queensland in years to come.

To give freely to-day is what is asked of us, and if we do that we shall have redeemed our honor to the men who have fought for us, and another glorious result will have been attained on

Perdriau

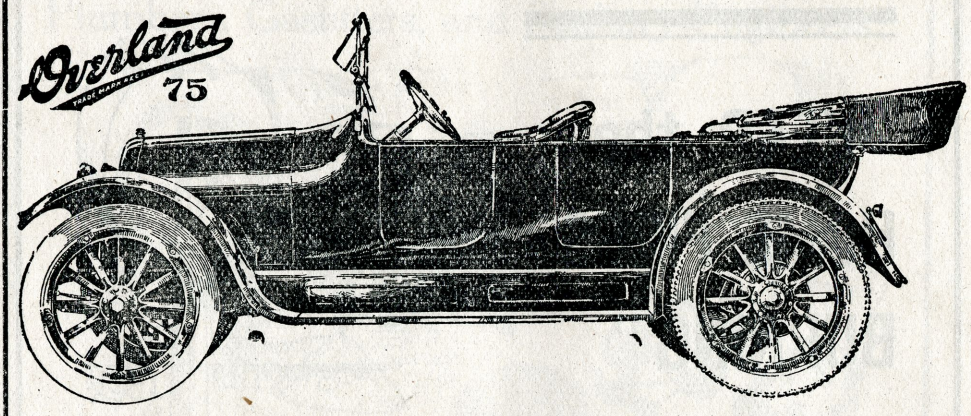

Tyres are the Product of Australian capital and Australian labour. They represent money kept within the Commonwealth—to the benefit of all AUSTRALIANS. Note the Perdriau features.

1. The 3-broad and heavy ribs which reduce friction on the road.
2. The depth of rubber below the 3 ribs
3. The extra strong friction canvas—an insurance against blow-outs.

ECONOMY

in First Cost—

in Tyres—

in Petrol—

Everybody's talking economy, so that the Model "75" Overland has arrived in Queensland at the right moment.

It is the lowest-priced high-grade car on the market. It is the car with the most firmly established reputation for Reliability. Overlands have always been good cars, and that there are more of them than any other high-grade car in Queensland proves it.

£325 TOURING CAR

£315 ROADSTER

(Subject to Freight Variations.)

Not only is economy evident in the first cost, but in tyres, and, most of all, in petrol consumption, this car is, of all on the market, the one most suited to the times which demand reduced expenditure.

You sacrifice nothing of personal pride in becoming the owner of a "75," even though you save pounds when they're most valuable

DO
we learn by experience ?

We're all convinced that we were very foolish in supporting German trade in times of peace, and so giving the Hun the money which has meant prolonged war and a challenge to our supremacy.

Not helping ourselves is, in different degrees, helping the Hun.

We can do one of three things:—

Trade with the enemy and help him strengthen himself while we undermine our own security. That's worst of all!

Or—

Trade with other foreign countries, and so, though not directly helping the enemy. undermine our own position none the less surely. That's almost as foolish from a national standpoint.

Or—

Trade with Australian concerns and so help build Australia—not another country in which we're not interested. That's the best and sanest policy.

Do we learn by experience?

One would think that by now every Australian motorist would have had it brought home to him that the only way to remedy the foolish faults of years' trading with enemies and others is to loyally support the industries which mean Australia's strength—or weakness, if they're not supported.

Mr. Motorist, since it is a long proved fact that Barnet Glass Australian-made Tyres are eclipsing Foreign Tyres in mileage results, will you ask yourself the question: "Why do I pass over the Australian tyre to send my money out of Australia?"

And will you answer it by buying Australian Tyres — Barnet Glass Tyres—in future? Price List on request.
